Some Facts about North Seattle College

North Seattle College is known for the breadth of its educational choices, the support it provides to its students, and the excellence of its instruction. Established in 1970, North Seattle College is an accredited two-year public college.

North is the starting point for many students who transfer to colleges and universities across the country. Small classes and an emphasis on learning skills and critical thinking help our students to succeed as they continue their education. The Bachelor of Applied Science in International Business offers qualified AAS degree holders the opportunity to complete a four-year degree on campus.

Students at North can also choose from more than 50 career training programs, including accounting fraud, green real estate, the Watch Technology Institute (co-sponsored by the Rolex Company), avionics and nanotechnology. (The College is proud to be designated a regional center for nanotechnology education through a National Science Foundation grant.) All of North’s career training programs are developed and refined in cooperation with business and industry. As a result, training matches employers’ needs and leads to jobs for graduates.

North Seattle College is one of 34 community and technical colleges in Washington and is part of the Seattle College District, which also includes Seattle Central and South Seattle Colleges and the Seattle Vocational Institute.
